FACE YOGA

Your Face Yoga & Self-Care Journey

A weekly rhythm of face lifting movements and Ayurvedic Abhyanga, designed to help you glow — naturally, consistently, joyfully.

YOUR WEEKLY RHYTHM

The Weekly Practice Schedule

Your week is thoughtfully balanced between two practices — Face Yoga for lifting, toning and glow, and Abhyanga for full-body nourishment and circulation. Together, they create a rhythm your skin and body can look forward to, every single week.

MONDAY	Face Yoga Targeted facial exercises to tone the underlying muscles, lift the cheeks and jawline, and set a fresh, active tone for your week.
TUESDAY	Abhyanga — Upper Body A warm-oil Ayurvedic self-massage for the neck, shoulders, arms and upper back — easing tension and supporting lymphatic flow toward the face.
WEDNESDAY	Face Yoga Mid-week practice to reinforce muscle memory — continued work on facial symmetry, dark circles and skin dullness.
THURSDAY	Abhyanga — Lower Body Warm-oil massage for the legs and feet, grounding the nervous system and supporting overall circulation and recovery.
FRIDAY	Face Yoga Closing the week with a full facial routine — leaving you glowing and refreshed heading into the weekend.

A note on technique: the exact sequence of face yoga exercises and Abhyanga strokes is guided individually by your teacher, based on your face structure, skin concerns and comfort. This page reflects the weekly rhythm — your teacher will walk you through each movement, session by session.

IN HER WORDS

Client Feedback

Before starting her sessions, she had an asymmetrical face along with acne and dullness. After practicing consistently, she noticed a visible glow, lifted cheeks, a more defined jawline, and her original skin tone returning as the dullness faded — with much improved facial symmetry.

She shared that she didn't expect this much change in just 20 days, and found the sessions easy to follow and relaxing for her face.
